

PEERS APPROVE VETO MEASURE

Bill Passes House of Lords by Narrow Margin.

VOTE STANDS AT 131 TO 114

Great Struggle Which Began Two Years Ago Ends in Greatest Change in Great Britain's Working Constitution Since Passage of Reform Bill. Commons Votes Members Annual Salaries of $2,000.

London Aug. 11.—Premier Asquith's government, which claims to represent the democracy of Great Britain, enforced its will on the peerage by the narrow vote of 131 to 114.

By this vote the house of lords decided to accept what the liberals contend is the will of the people and adopted Viscount Morley's motion not to insist on the lords' amendments to the parliamentary bill, which practically limits the power of the house of lords to a two-year suspensory veto and vastly increases the prerogatives of the house of commons.

The great constitutional struggle that began when the house of lords nearly two years ago rejected the budget of David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, is ended for a time at least and with the greatest change to Great Britain's working constitution since the passage of the reform bill.

The process of voting consumed nearly an hour and the result trembled in the balance until the last moment. The "die hards" mustered greater strength than was expected and the government owes its victory to the votes of between twenty and thirty Conservatives who threw in their lot with the liberals to save their own caste from loss of prestige and the king from the necessity of exercising the royal prerogative for the creation of a large number of new peers, from which every one believes he was extremely anxious to be saved.

Archbishops Favor Measure.

The archbishops of Canterbury and York and nine bishops also lined up with the government. The bishops of Bangor and Worcester went with the Hallsburyites, the "last ditchers."

The highest rank of the nobility furnished the fewest supporters of the government. The Dukes of Norfolk, Leeds, Marlborough, Newcastle, Northumberland, Somerset and Westminster voted with the opposition, while the other dukes abstained from voting.

"Drinking the hemlock" has become a historic phrase in past months and the gathering in the ancient chamber to witness this memorable humiliation was worthy of the occasion. Peers, ambassadors and commoners packed the galleries. The benches, aisles and floor were crowded.

Lieutenant Colonel Arthur Lee, speaking in the house of commons, said this would be a black day in England's history if the house of lords accepted the veto bill and the house of commons cut adrift from the traditions of centuries to bestow salaries upon its members. Apparently the sentiment of the peers was in full accord with this description of the occasion. Lords frequently forgot the oppressive dignity which customarily marks the proceedings in the upper chamber and fought for a hearing.

The Earl of Halsbury once went so far as to make a formal motion that one of his supporters be heard in preference to one peer who favored the government.

Lord Lansdowne Withdraws.

When the voting began Lord Lansdowne withdrew to a position behind the throne, but his followers watched the issue eagerly. The bishops on both sides walked through the tellers first. A thrill of excitement marked the appearance of each notable, but none was greater than when Lord Rosebery appeared as supporter of the government.

As soon as the result was known members of the house of commons rushed from the galleries and into their own chamber and whispered the news to their members. A great cheer followed the announcement of the government's victory.

A resolution to pay members of the house of commons $2,000 annually for their services was carried by a vote of 256 to 159.

The resolution was moved by Chancellor Lloyd-George, who said Great Britain was the only country in the world that did not pay members for their work in parliament, which now always is so strenuous the members have little time to attend to anything else.

The Unionists opposed the payment plan on the ground it would be a violation of the principle of gratuitous public service, as well as improper for members to vote themselves salaries.

Boy Drowns in Wisconsin River.

Grand Rapids, Wis., Aug. 11.—Kenneth Hill, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hill of this city, was drowned in the Wisconsin river while bathing with his brother Leslie and other boys. Kenneth walked out on an iron pipe into a swift current, lost his balance and was swept beyond help before his companions realized his danger.

FRICK LEAVES UNION PACIFIC

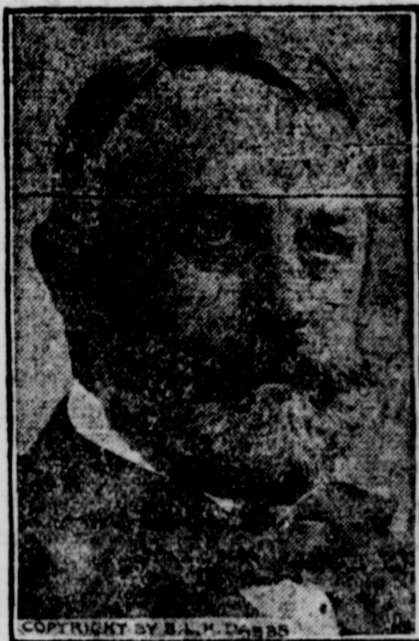

Retires From Directorate of the Railroad Company.

WILL QUIT OTHER CONCERNS

Friends Say Purpose of Capitalist and Former Ironmaster in Retiring From Active Financial Strife Is to Further His Desire to Take Greater Ease. His Wealth Estimated at Over $100,000,000.

New York, Aug. 11.—The retirement of Henry Clay Frick from the directorate of the Union Pacific Railroad company is announced. Mr. Frick tendered his resignation some days ago, but nothing was said about his retirement. It is understood he will retire from other large corporations with which he has been prominently identified for many years, including the United States Steel corporation.

Friends of the capitalist and former ironmaster say that his primary purpose in retiring from active financial strife is to further his desire to take greater ease and devote himself to other pursuits. It also was intimated that his old idea in getting out of the Union Pacific was because his active ties in that road often conflicted with his duties toward the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, in which he has large holdings, and in the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mr. Frick's friends also declare that he believed such connections to be unwise at a time when the federal government is exercising such close supervision over large railroad and industrial corporations whose affairs are so closely interrelated.

Some Adverse Criticism.

Union Pacific and Atchison are so called competing roads at many points and Mr. Frick's interest and activity in the United States Steel corporation, which has frequently sold large supplies to those roads, has at times resulted in adverse criticism.

Mr. Frick's resignation from the Union Pacific, if latest reports are accurate, was not due to friction with the management, of which there have been rumors recently. It has been reported that he favored "segregation" of Union Pacific assets, with a reduction of the prevailing dividends, believing that much of the hostility to which the Harriman roads, particularly Union Pacific, have been subjected, was the result of their large dividend disbursements. This is denied by Mr. Frick's fellow directors in Union Pacific, who say that he retires with genuine regret and the kindest feelings.

Henry Clay Frick's career and material success are closely interwoven with the history of the steel and iron industry. He was one of Andrew Carnegie's lieutenants and was deep in the confidence of the ironmaster. They had a serious disagreement, however, when Mr. Carnegie took over the $1,000,000 forfeit money which Mr. Frick deposited as a "binder" to buy the Carnegie properties, but which project failed. Later Carnegie sold his interests to the United States Steel corporation for at least three times the price he named to Mr. Frick and associates. Mr. Frick added to his millions while in the iron business by erecting large coke ovens in the Pennsylvania iron district. These have enormously increased his wealth, which is conservatively estimated at considerably more than $100,000,000.

The Gloomy Englishman.

BURNS OVER THREE ACRES

Fire Destroys Box and Lumber Plant at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Aug. 11.—Fighting desperately to quench flames that fairly leaped from one section to the other of the three acres occupied by the Minnesota Box and Lumber company the fire department was unable to hold the loss under $75,000. Fifty thousand dollars of this amount was in lumber, $15,000 in machinery and the remainder covers the damage to the office building. The insurance does not exceed $40,000. Fifty men are without employment as a result of the blaze. The origin of the fire is unknown.

CONFEREES COMING NEARER AGREEMENT

Will Get Together on Wool and Free List Bills.

Washington, Aug. 11.—It is generally expected in both the senate and the house that when the conference committee of the two houses on the Underwood wool bill and the farmers' free list bill meets it will be able to reach an agreement on a compromise measure embodying the main features of both bills.

Senator La Follette and Representative Underwood were in conference. As a result of their deliberations they reached a substantial agreement on the farmers' free list bill by which most of the senate amendments will be retained. These include the amendment offered by Senator Kern of Indiana providing free trade in meats and flour be extended only to the foreign countries with which the United States has a reciprocal agreement under which certain agricultural products of the United States have free entry to the foreign ports.

The mooted question of lemons was settled in a way that will satisfy the California delegation. Lemons will continue to pay duty. The senate refused to put them on the free list, but when the bill went back to the house the California product was added to the free list. It is understood that acting upon the urgent representation of Senator Works (Rep.) and several progressive Republican representatives from California, Senator La Follette made a successful resistance to free trade in lemons and in return hopes to receive the delegates from California in the next Republican national convention.

The agreement on the farmers' free list bill is practically a victory for the senate.

Too Many Other Troubles to Settle for Work Done on His Home.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Senator William Lorimer was sued for $6,000 here by the Henry Ericson company, which asserts this sum is due for work done on the senator's summer home two years ago.

"Senator Lorimer promised to pay us the cost of the material and labor and 10 per cent over," said Mr. Ericson. "We have never received a cent and are being sued by the lumber people. Four months ago I asked Mr. Lorimer for the money, but he said he couldn't pay and that he had troubles enough without adding mine."

MAY CONTINUE THEIR PROBING

Congressional Committees Will Do as Chairmen Say.

INQUIRIES NOT COMPLETED.

Democratic Leaders Believe That Investigations Should Continue as Long as They Produce Results—Suggestion Made That Caucuses Should Be Open to the Public.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—As long as the investigating committees can keep on the trail of what they consider good leads they intend to keep probing. That has been the decision of the Democratic leaders, who think that at least a few members of the house—those who have been assigned to a specific duty—should work after congress adjourns.

Whether the committees can be kept busy depends a great deal on the chairmen. Members of the committees will not remain unless the chairman insists upon working. Just how keen these chairmen will be to continue the hunt for irregular government methods when the session has ended is not yet plain. It would appear that several committees must continue the inquiries they have undertaken.

Need Caucus Publicity.

Since it appeared that Mr. Bryan was misinformed as to what transpired in the Democratic caucus a suggestion has been made that hereafter these caucuses should be open, like the sessions of the house. But the suggestion will not be adopted.

Congressman Olmsted of Pennsylvania was having a discussion with Congressman Rucker of Missouri about the campaign publicity bill. He read from a newspaper an account of the Democratic caucus on that matter. "The caucus adopted a stringent resolution," said the account, "forbidding any member giving publicity to the caucus proceedings and discharging any employee who gave an account of the caucus."

"They were opposed to publicity on their own publicity bill," was the comment of Olmsted.

Familiar as Politics.

"About this time look for thunder showers," said the old almanacs in predicting weather for July. The political forecast might with equal correctness predict for any period preceding a presidential election and say about this time look for the headline, "Solid South Breaking," followed by an interview with a southern Republican politician predicting that "there is likely to be a break in the solid south in the next election" and giving reasons for the assertion.

That has been going on at every political campaign since the south became solid. Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and even Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama are mentioned as states which may cast their votes for the Republican candidate. Kentucky once cast part of her vote for McKinley, and Missouri has twice voted for the Republican candidate.

Quoting Capron.

Adin B. Capron of Rhode Island was one of the most lovable men and real humorists of the house. Perhaps it is natural for his successor, Congressman Utter, to quote him. He was talking about the tariff, which always involves figures and percentages.

"I do not know much about percentages," remarked Utter. "Capron said that he had a high opinion of percentages so long as he (Capron) stood 100 per cent. By and by he took a wife, and with two in the family he was only 50 per cent. Later when little Caprons came along his percentage went down, although the family continued to increase. Sometimes I think when we are dealing with these questions we get lost between percentages and the whole number."

Willing to Work.

"The people are paying us our salaries to stay here and attend to public business," declared Senator Reed in opposing the talk of adjournment. The Missouri senator perhaps does not know that a great many people would prefer that the payment of the salaries should continue if congress would adjourn and give the country a rest.

Ticket From the House.

Jefferson Levy, congressman from New York city, returned to Washington after he had been making a survey of the political field from a different point of view from Washington's. He said that Champ Clark was coming to the front rapidly as a presidential possibility and was growing in public favor. Chairman Underwood, he said, was being considered for vice president, although the general opinion was the Alabama man would be more valuable in the house. It certainly would be strange to see a presidential ticket taken from the house of representatives. It has never been done.

History and Mythology.

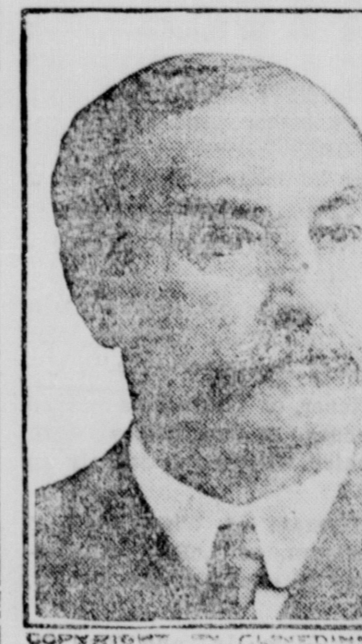

All weapons are permitted in tariff warfare, and so Congressman Hull violated no precedents and infringed no rules when he filled a cotton speech with historical allusions and mythological characters. The Tennessee man seemed to tickle his fellow Democrats, too, for such allusions were nearly always followed by "applause on the Democratic side."

ROOSEVELT WRITES ARTICLE ON ALASKA

Declares Government Must Control Its Development.

New York, Aug. 11.—Former President Roosevelt has an article entitled "Alaska Again" in the current number of the Outlook. After taking issue with a newspaper statement that during the Roosevelt administration the same course was pursued as was pursued later in connection with Controller Mr. Roosevelt discusses some of the general phases of Alaskan development, and adds:

"The government must itself control the development of Alaska and adopt as the guiding principle the idea of shaping that development in the interest primarily of the people as a whole, the syndicate or other developing agencies thus receiving benefit only as an incident to conferring it."

"I do not think the task is a very difficult one, if only we, the people, personally and through our representatives, approach it with this purpose clearly in mind and if we insist that the agents of government act with an understanding of the needs of the people and a resolute purpose to see those needs accomplished, even though it be necessary to override the representatives of the great interests who wish to prevent Alaskan development unless it is shaped primarily to benefit those interests."

SECRETARY WILSON MAY QUIT

Talk of Resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Revived.

Washington, Aug. 11.—There is renewed talk that Secretary Wilson will be forced out of the cabinet by the facts brought out in the Wiley investigation. It is certain, from the testimony, that Wilson at no time has been able to establish efficient discipline in the department and that the present difficulties are due almost wholly to that fact. The president is said to be much annoyed at the trouble Secretary Wilson has needlessly made him, but there is nothing yet to indicate that he will call for his resignation. The resignation, it is said, will come voluntarily.

SENATE TO DELAY TREATIES

Amendment of Arbitration Agreements Declared Inevitable.

Washington, Aug. 11.—It is now conceded that the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France will cause much discussion in the senate and that ratification at the present session will be out of the question, unless the session should be prolonged for another month at least. There is in the senate a strong desire, backed up by pressure from all parts of the country, to further the cause of world peace and to ratify the agreements as soon as possible. But at the same time it is now evident that the senate is resolved to move with the greatest deliberation with respect to every detail which appears to involve its own prerogatives. That the treaties will be amended is not disputed.

Orang Utan.

The large anthropoids of Borneo and Sumatra are usually called orang outangs. This form, it seems, is not correct. Orang signifies man and outang, or utang, debt, something owing; so that orang outang would simply mean a man in debt. The correct Malay name is orang utan, or outan. This signifies the forest man in distinction to orang dusun, or village civilized man.

Department of Agriculture Makes Public Bulletin.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Cotton, lemons, apples, oranges and rice were the only crops that showed a growing condition Aug. 1 above the average of recent years. All other crops fell below the average condition, while the combined condition of all crops was 14.6 per cent below average, according to the announcement of the department of agriculture.

July 1 conditions were 10.7 per cent below the average and June 1 they were 2.8 per cent below.

The severe drought over a wide area was the principal cause of the unusually low crop conditions, the report states.

LONDON FAMINE SCARE PAST

Expected Conditions Will Be Normal by Monday.

London, Aug. 11.—A speedy termination of the labor troubles that at one time threatened to plunge London into a condition of famine seems imminent. It was announced the carmen's strike, the chief outstanding difficulty to a complete cessation of the trouble, had been settled. There are, however, minor sections of the transport workers' dispute to be arranged before there is a general resumption of work, but these probably will be settled by Saturday. In this event normal conditions will be restored by Monday.

Says Corporations Cannot Exist Under Sherman Statute.

TOUCHES ON NEEDED REFORMS

Witness Before Steel Trust Investigating Committee Covers Wide Range of Subjects—Says Government's Dissolution of Standard Oil Served as Waving Red Flag of Warning to Every Corporation.

Washington, Aug. 11.—George W. Perkins, director of the United States Steel corporation, made some striking recommendations with reference to the government's control of corporations.

A witness before the house steel trust investigating committee he declared existing laws are seriously threatening big business interests and their rigid enforcement is rendering it impossible for corporations to continue operations in conformity with the statutes.

Mr. Perkins went over a wide range of subjects. He touched on needed reform in the laws, discussed the existing conditions of corporations and pointed out changes that could be made by congress in the financial system of the country. Some of his observations follow:

"Great corporations, grown up under demands of existing conditions, can no longer successfully exist under the Sherman anti-trust law as now rigidly enforced."

"The government's dissolution of Standard Oil served as the waving of a 'red flag' of warning to every corporation in the United States."

"Something of a constructive nature must be done by the government with reference to the control of corporations and rather than for present conditions to continue it would be better to go to the limit of permitting government regulation of prices."

Troubles of Holding Company.

"The very reason subsidiary companies of a great corporation can violate the law without knowledge of the officers of the holding company is the law that prevents such a corporation from operating and ruling the subsidiary concerns instead of merely advising them."

"One great stride toward averting financial panics in New York could be made if the government would prevent banks in Chicago and the Middle West loaning money on call in New York during the summer at cheap rates and suddenly calling it back in the fall for the crop movement, making high money and trouble in the New York market."

"Establishment of a government bureau that could give accurate information to the public as to the condition of corporations would be an active inducement to the people to make wise investments."

"One of the most striking developments of the present system of conducting business on a large scale is the dividing of great interests into the hands of many investors rather than concentrating them in the hands of a few."

Mr. Perkins made the foregoing observations during the third day of his examination by the steel committee inquirers. At times he was eloquent and forceful in his declarations. He frequently emphasized his remarks by waving his arms, pounding on the table with his fists and rising from his seat to address the committee.

HOLDS INDICTMENTS VALID

Judge Overrules Demurrer in White Earth Land Fraud Cases.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 11.—Judge Willard, at the conclusion of an all day argument in the United States district court here, overruled demurrers in the White Earth land fraud cases and held that indictments are valid.

The indictments charge Gus H. Beaulieu and a number of other prominent citizens of White Earth and vicinity with conspiring to defraud the government by inducing government officers to issue patents to full blood Indians and mixed blood minors by procuring affidavits that they were of mixed blood. The charge of conspiracy was the only method by which the government was able to reach the accused parties criminally.

reached a substantial agreement on the farmers' free list bill by which most of the senate amendments will be retained. These include the amendment offered by Senator Kern of Indiana providing free trade in meats and flour be extended only to the foreign countries with which the United States has a reciprocal agreement under which certain agricultural products of the United States have free entry to the foreign ports.The mooted question of lemons was settled in a way that will satisfy the California delegation. Lemons will continue to pay duty. The senate refused to put them on the free list, but when the bill went back to the house
the California product was added to the free list. It is understood that acting upon the urgent representation of Senator Works (Rep.) and several progressive Republican representatives from California, Senator La Follette made a successful resistance to free trade in lemons and in return hopes to receive the delegates from California in the next Republican national convention.The agreement on the farmers' free list bill is practically a victory for the senate.

President Goes to Beverly.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Convinced that congress will not adjourn for some time and determined to get all the vacation possible President Taft left Washington for Beverly, where he expects to spend the week end playing golf, motoring over the north shore roads and resting quietly at the Taft cottage.

Blesses Total Abstinents.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 11.—Visiting the National Catholic Total Abstinence
convention Archbishop Falconio, papal delegate, addressed the delegates and bestowed upon them the papal blessing with a godspeed for the accomplishment of their good works.

SENATOR LORIMER IS SUED

Too Many Other Troubles to Settle for Work Done on His Home.Chicago, Aug. 11.—Senator William Lorimer was sued for $6,000 here by the Henry Ericsson company, which asserts this sum is due for work done on the senator's summer home two years ago."Senator Lorimer promised to pay us
the cost of the material and labor and 10 per cent over," said Mr. Ericsson. "We have never received a cent
and are being sued by the lumber people. Four months ago I asked Mr.
Lorimer for the money, but he said he couldn't pay and that he had troubles enough without adding mine."MAY CONTINUE

INQUIRIES NOT COMPLETED.

Democratic Leaders Believe That Investigations Should Continue as Long as They Produce Results—Suggestion Made That Caucuses Should Be Open to the Public.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—As long as the investigating committees
can keep on the trail of what they consider good leads they intend to keep probing. That has been the decision of the Democratic leaders, who think that at least a few members of the house—those who have been assigned to a specific duty—should work after congress adjourns.Whether the committees can be kept busy depends a great deal on the chairmen. Members of the committees will not remain unless the chairman insists upon working. Just how keen these chairmen will be to continue the hunt
for irregular government methods
when the session has ended is not yet plain. It would appear that several committees must continue the inquiries they have undertaken.

Need Caucus Publicity.

Since it appeared that Mr. Bryan was misinformed as to what transpired
in the Democratic caucus a suggestion has been made that hereafter these caucuses should be open, like the sessions of the house. But the suggestion will not be adopted.Congressman Olmsted of Pennsylvania was having a discussion with Congressman Rucker of Missouri about the campaign publicity bill. He read from a newspaper an account of the Democratic caucus on that matter. "The caucus adopted a stringent resolution," said the account, "forbidding any member giving publicity to the caucus proceedings and discharging any employee who gave an account of the caucus.""They were opposed to publicity on their own publicity bill," was the comment of Olmsted.

Familiar as Politics.

"About this time look for thunder showers," said the old almanacs in predicting weather for July. The political forecaster might with equal correctness predict for any period preceding a presidential election and say about this time look for the headline,
"Solid South Breaking," followed by an interview with a southern Republican politician predicting that "there is likely to be a break in the solid south in the next election" and giving reasons for the assertion.That has been going on at every political campaign since the south became solid. Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and even Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama are mentioned as states which may cast their votes for the Republican candidate. Kentucky once cast part of her vote for McKinley, and Missouri has twice voted for the Republican candidate.

Quoting Capron.

Adin B. Capron of Rhode Island was one of the most lovable men and real humorists of the house. Perhaps it is natural for his successor, Congressman Utter, to quote him. He was talking about the tariff, which always involves figures and percentages."I do not know much about percentages," remarked Utter. "Capron said that he had a high opinion of percentages so long as he (Capron) stood 100 per cent. By and by he took a wife, and with two in the family he was only 50 per cent. Later when little Caprons came along his percentage went down, although the family continued to increase. Sometimes I think when we are dealing with these questions we get lost between percentages
and the whole number."

Willing to Work.

"The people are paying us our salaries to stay here and attend to public business," declared Senator Reed in opposing the talk of adjournment. The Missouri senator perhaps does not know that a great many people would prefer that the payment of the salaries should continue if congress would adjourn and give the country a rest.

Ticket From the House.

Jefferson Levy, congressman from New York city, returned to Washington after he had been making a survey of the political field from a different point of view from Washington's.
He said that Champ Clark was coming to the front rapidly as a presidential possibility and was growing in public favor. Chairman Underwood, he said, was being considered for vice president, although the general opinion was the Alabama man would be more valuable in the house. It certainly would be strange to see a presidential ticket
taken from the house of representatives. It has never been done.

History and Mythology.

All weapons are permitted in tariff warfare, and so Congressman Hull violated no precedents and infringed no rules when he filled a cotton speech with historical allusions and mythological characters. The Tennessee man seemed to tickle his fellow Democrats,
too, for such allusions were nearly always followed by "applause on the Democratic side."

you get homesick?" "We go to sea

Convention at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA WANTS G. O. P.

Mayor Reburn to Exert Influence to Land National Convention.Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—Philadelphia
is after the Republican national convention next year. A committee representing the allied Republican clubs of Philadelphia, which is pushing the project, called upon Mayor Reburn and urged him to exert influence with the Republican national committee to bring about the selection of Philadelphia. The mayor pledged his support.
The city is planning a municipal convention hall, which is expected to be one of the largest and finest in the country.ROOSEVELT WRITES
ARTICLE ON ALASKADeclares Government Must Control Its Development.New York, Aug. 11.—Former President Roosevelt has an article entitled
"Alaska Again" in the current number of the Outlook. After taking issue with a newspaper statement that during the Roosevelt administration the same course was pursued as was pursued later in connection with Controller bay Mr. Roosevelt discusses some of the general phases of Alaskan development, and adds:"The government must itself control
the development of Alaska and adopt as the guiding principle the idea of shaping that development in the interest primarily of the people as a whole,
the syndicate or other developing agencies thus receiving benefit only as an incident to conferring it.""I do not think the task is a very difficult one, if only we, the people, personally and through our representatives, approach it with this proposition clearly in mind and if we insist that the agents of government act with an understanding of the needs of the people and a resolute purpose to see those needs accomplished, even though it be necessary to override the representatives of the great interests who wish to prevent Alaskan development unless it is shaped primarily to benefit those interests."

SECRETARY WILSON MAY QUIT

Talk of Resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Revived.Washington, Aug. 11.—There is renewed talk that Secretary Wilson will be forced out of the cabinet by the facts brought out in the Wiley investigation. It is certain, from the testimony, that Wilson at no time has been able to establish efficient discipline in the department and that the present difficulties are due almost wholly to that fact. The president is said to be much annoyed at the trouble Secretary Wilson has needlessly made him, but there is nothing yet to indicate that he will call for his resignation. The resignation, it is said, will come voluntarily.

SENATE TO DELAY TREATIES

Amendment of Arbitration Agreements
Declared Inevitable.Washington, Aug. 11.—It is now conceded that the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France will cause much discussion in the senate and that ratification at the present session will be out of the question, unless the session should be prolonged for another month at least. There is in the senate a strong desire, backed up by pressure from all parts of the country, to further the cause of world peace and to ratify the agreements as soon as possible. But at the same time it is now evident that the senate is resolved to move with the greatest deliberation with respect to every detail
which appears to involve its own prerogatives. That the treaties will be amended is not disputed.

Orang Utan.

The large anthropoids of Borneo and Sumatra are usually called orang out-angs. This form, it seems, is not correct. Orang signifies man and outang, or utang, debt, something owing; so that orang outang would simply mean a man in debt. The correct Malay name is orang utan, or outan. This signifies the forest man in distinction to orang dusun, or village civiliza-
man.PERKINS SCORES

Department of Agriculture Makes Public Bulletin.Washington, Aug. 11.—Cotton, lemons, apples, oranges and rice were the only crops that showed a growing condition Aug. 1 above the average of recent years. All other crops fell below the average condition, while the combined condition of all crops was 14.6 per cent below average, according to the announcement of the department of agriculture.July 1 conditions were 10.7 per cent below the average and June 1 they were 2.8 per cent below.The severe drought over a wide area was the principal cause of the unusually low crop conditions, the report states.

LONDON FAMINE SCARE PAST

Expected Conditions Will Be Normal
by Monday.London, Aug. 11.—A speedy termination of the labor troubles that at one time threatened to plunge London into a condition of famine seems imminent.
It was announced the carmen's strike,
the chief outstanding difficulty to a complete cessation of the trouble, had been settled. There are, however, minor sections of the transport workers' dispute to be arranged before
there is a general resumption of work,
but these probably will be settled by Saturday. In this event normal conditions will be restored by Monday.

Minnesota Law College Dean.

Minneapolis, Aug. 11.—The board of regents of the University of Minnesota at a meeting in the office of President Vincent elected William Reynolds Vance of the Yale law college dean of the college of law to succeed the late W. S. Pattee. Dr. Vance is a well known legal practitioner and scholar, author and authority on insurance problems.

Confederate General Dead.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 11.—General George W. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans and a member of congress, died at his home here. His illness dated from his last political campaign, when he was re-elected to the national house of representatives, the last general of the Confederacy to serve in that body.

TOUCHES ON NEEDED REFORMS

Witness Before Steel Trust Investigating Committee Covers Wide Range of Subjects—Says Government's Dissolution of Standard Oil Served as Waving Red Flag of Warning to Every Corporation.Washington, Aug. 11.—George W.
Perkins, director of the United States Steel corporation, made some striking recommendations with reference to the government's control of corporations.A witness before the house steel trust investigating committee he declared existing laws are seriously threatening big business interests and their rigid enforcement is rendering it impossible for corporations to continue operations in conformity with the statutes.Mr. Perkins went over a wide range of subjects. He touched on needed reform in the laws, discussed the existing conditions of corporations and pointed out changes that could be made by congress in the financial system of the country. Some of his observations follow:"Great corporations, grown up under demands of existing conditions, can no longer successfully exist under the Sherman anti-trust law as now rigidly enforced.""The government's dissolution of Standard Oil served as the waving of a red flag of warning to every corporation in the United States.""Something of a constructive nature must be done by the government with reference to the control of corporations and rather than for present conditions to continue it would be better to go to the limit of permitting government regulation of prices."

Troubles of Holding Company.

"The very reason subsidiary companies of a great corporation can violate the law without knowledge of the officers of the holding company is the law that prevents such a corporation
from operating and ruling the subsidiary concerns instead of merely advising them.""One great stride toward averting financial panics in New York could be made if the government would prevent banks in Chicago and the Middle West loaning money on call in New York during the summer at cheap rates and suddenly calling it back in the fall for the crop movement, making high money and trouble in the New York market.""Establishment of a government bureau that could give accurate information to the public as to the condition of corporations would be an active increment to the people to make wise investments.""One of the most striking developments of the present system of conducting business on a large scale is the dividing of great interests into the hands of many investors rather than concentrating them in the hands of a few."Mr. Perkins made the foregoing observations during the third day of his examination by the steel committee inquirers. At times he was eloquent and forceful in his declarations.
He frequently emphasized his remarks by waving his arms, pounding on the table with his fists and rising from his seat to address the committee.

Judge Overrules Demurrer in White Earth Land Fraud Cases.Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 11.—Judge Willard, at the conclusion of an all day argument in the United States district court here, overruled demur-rers in the White Earth land fraud cases and held that indictments are valid.The indictments charge Gus H.
Beaulieu and a number of other prominent citizens of White Earth and vicinity with conspiracy to defraud
the government by inducing government officers to issue patents to full blood Indians and mixed blood minors by procuring affidavits that they were of mixed blood. "The charges of conspiracy was the only method by which the government was able to reach the accused parties criminally."

A "FIRST NIGHT" FOR BRAINERD

William Yule and Company will Produce "The Rivals", Either August 18 or 19

ARE REHEARSING IN THE CITY

Mr. Yule Appearing as "Bob Acres"—Very Capable Company with Beautiful Scenery

Next Friday or Saturday, August 18 or 19, Brainerd will be given the honor and novelty of attending the first night's performance of William Yule and company of talented players who will present Richard Brinsley Butler Sheridan's masterpiece, "The Rivals."

During the past week the company has been diligently rehearsing the play at the Brainerd opera house and on Thursday afternoon the writer had the privilege of attending the rehearsal. Sitting near Mr. Yule he observed how the actor-manager criticized and whipped the play into shape.

One thing was immediately noticed and that is that there is as much "business" on the stage as there is in advertising, staging and managing the play. By "business" in the stage is meant the art of giving the proper reading of a line and rendering the appropriate gestures. It is in the delicate shading and skillful touches of human interest which Delasco added to his productions that made them successful and popular. And in the same way Mr. William Yule carefully follows every line of the play and sees that his actors express the right degree of astonishment, anger, sudden interest, playful love or other emotions at the right period and place.

It was wonderful to follow Mr. Yule and to see, after he had suggested a different idea in its production to the actor, what a change it wrought in the effect. In one situation Beverly, while speaking to Lydia, touched her shoulders lightly. Mr. Yule suggested holding her hands and then dropping them gently. It was the proper procedure and he change made the situation easy, graceful and natural.

Mr. Yule has chosen his actors with a view of giving a correct and artistic rendition of the play. It has been beautifully staged and the costumes are rich and in keeping with the period of English history which it presents.

The ladies in the party are especially well adapted to their parts. Lydia is represented by a pretty girl who knows how to portray the quick, vixenish, coquettish and romantic Lydia, who changes from one mood to another with lightning rapidity.

The actor taking the part of Ensign Beverly is a clean cut speaker and every word is distinctly heard. He is graceful and natural and will surely make a success of his part.

Mrs. Malaprop is in good hands. He is the vain, good natured woman of the play, remarkable for her misapplication of words. This paragraph will explain her wonderful use of the English language: "There is, an attack upon my language! that do you think of that?—and aspersions upon my parts of speech! as ever such a brute! Sure, if I apprehend anything in this world, it is the use of my oracular tongue, and a nice derangement of epithets."

In wishing to say, "Comparisons are odious," Mrs. Malaprop said very emphatically, "Comparisons are odorous." On another occasion she said "quite analyzed" about something. Her wrath knows no limit when some one refers to her as a "weather beaten old she-dragon."

By some, "The Rivals" is considered even a better play than "The School for Scandal." "The Rivals" sparkles with wit. As Sheridan was born at Dublin it follows that this center of purest English is reflected in the attitude and characteristics of the gifted author, for no one but an Irishman could pen such scintillating wit, such romantic settings and so many opportunities for soft, tender speeches.

It is hoped that Brainerd audiences will fill the theatre on the opening night and by their presence attest their interest in the first appearance of Mr. Yule's company in this delightful play.

Red Wing, Minn., August 11, 1911.—In his hearing before the board of control today Supt. Whittier, of the Red Wing training school, admitted that he knew hose and harness tugs were used in the punishment of girls at Red Wing and that this form of chastisement was inflicted with his approval.

REMODELING OLD BUILDING

White Brothers Have Commenced Work Changing the Front of the Structure

As soon as the postoffice was removed to its new quarters, White Brothers commenced work on their contract of remodeling the front of the Odd Fellow building. Large iron beams have been placed in front to support it until the various changes contemplated are completed. The main entrance to the former old postoffice is to be eliminated and it will be placed at the southeast corner of the building. The plate glass front will extend also towards the alley, being built back from the street to a point above the end of the basement stairs.

The alterations will make the Odd Fellow block's main floor a handsome business location. Several tenants were anxious to secure the premises and the lucky and favored one who secured it will occupy it as soon as the repairs are completed.

SIDE TRACKS FOR IRONTON

Contractors Robert McMenemy and L. A. Bumgardner, of St. Paul, To Put Them in For Soo

DRILLING NEAR TOWNSITE

Steel Shaft House of Armour No. 1 and Brick Boiler House of No. 2 Mines, About Completed

Iron-ton, Minn., August 11.—Contractors Robert McMenemy and L. A. Bumgardner, of St. Paul, Soo railway contractors, were at Iron-ton this week and made arrangements to put in sidetrack to the town and the mines near by. When pressed to divulge any further information regarding their railroad building, neither one would venture any information. The Soo is now only 17 miles from Brainerd and it would not take long to bridge the gap between the two towns.

Ed. Syverson is threatened with an attack of typhoid fever.

The steel shaft house of the Armour, No. 1, mine is almost completed.

The brick boiler house of the Armour No. 2 mine is also nearly finished.

William Seafeld has sold his building to a Mr. Johnson, a relative of the Ellingsen Brothers and he will start a restaurant in Iron-ton.

As Iron-ton is still without a saloon one may see every week day evening a long file of men tramping the path to Jule Jameson's place. Situated on a hill between Crosby and Iron-ton, decorated with a flag by day and a gleaming electric light at night, Jule's place, as it is known, is quite a haven for the parched and dry ones.

The Helmer Exploration Co. is operating three drills near the town and is reported to have struck a rich bed of ore of large dimensions.

The Soo line is building coal docks for the Inland Steel Co.

Koop-Neville

Grover Koop and Miss Sara Neville were married at Pine City on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. The wedding ceremony took place in the Catholic church, Rev. Father Leo officiating.

The bride was attired in a gown of white chiffon made over messaline with a hat to match and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lucille Neville, who was dressed in white Persian lawn trimmed with Irish lace. She also carried a bouquet of flowers.

The best man was Frank Madden, of Pine City. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sara Neville. The young couple left in the evening on their wedding tour which included visits at Minneapolis and Chicago. They will be at home to their friends next Thursday, August 17, at 323 Holly street.

Among the attendants at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Koop and Mrs. Lillian Ewing. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Koop and was born and reared in this city. He is prominent in business circles and has a large host of friends. The bride is a charming lady who has many friends at her home in Pine City and who made many more friends during her sojourn in Brainerd.

The Dispatch joins in extending them its best wishes for their continued happiness and prosperity.

Building a House.

In building a house every layer of brick is termed a "course." It is usual to place in the walls upright and horizontal damp proof courses. These ought to be composed of some substance that water cannot penetrate. In this way the walls are mapped out into squares and the accidental dampening of any one square cannot affect the others. Unfortunately, there are some builders who study economy unduly, and their damp proof courses act as effectively as a layer of wet sea sand. Those who intend having a house built should regard the genuineness of the measures adopted to prevent damp as of the very first importance.—London Telegraph.

AGREE ON WOOL REVISION RATE

Washington, August 11, 1911.—The full house and the senate conference committee on tariff wool revision today agreed on a flat rate of 29 per cent on raw wool. The committee also agreed on the house classification of wool.

The agreement on these two points seems to have removed the greatest obstacles in the way of final agreements.

CRUSADE FOR THE EYES

Movement For Better Care of the Vision to Be Promoted.

The American Association of Vision, which was organized following agitation by the American Medical association and the Russell Sage foundation to interest the public in care of the eyes, is planning an active campaign of education in many cities. Branches of the association are to be organized in every part of the country, and a day in October, 1913, will be selected to be known as "Conservation of Vision day," on which, by exhibits and lectures, an opportunity will be given to every person in the country to obtain free instruction regarding the importance of good vision and the methods of preserving it.

The idea has the indorsement of the American Medical association and the American Association of Workers For the Blind, and efforts are being made to obtain the co-operation of the national, state and local governments, the schools and the churches. It is also expected that many of the 100,000 blind persons in the country will help in the organization of local committees.

Wonderful Insight.

A negro having won a dollar at a crap game decided to spend it on having his fortune told. The fortune teller led him into a gloomy room with dirty hangings and misty red lights. She took his palm, traced it with a dollar, spread out her cards and then said: "You are very fond of music; you like chicken; you have won money at craps, and you have been in jail." The negro looked at her with bulging eyes and finally ejaculated, "Mah goodness, lady; why you jest read mah inmost thoughts!"—Argonaut.

ARMY RECRUITING OFFICE

Corp. Thomas P. Thompson, of Duluth, Will Report Favorably to Duluth Office on Project

Corporal Thomas P. Thompson, of Duluth, acting under instructions from Capt. C. Briand, captain of the 4th cavalry, has been in the city several days examining into the feasibility of establishing an army recruiting office here for the recruiting of infantry, cavalry and coast artillery soldiers.

The United States marine corps had a recruiting station here recently, but it has been at least four years since the army was represented in Brainerd. Corporal Thompson has examined the city and its vicinity and is assured he can gain many recruits. He was recently at Iron-wood, Mich., where he made a good record gathering them in. He spent 13 months at Hibbing and also several months at Duluth in this branch of the service.

The examinations are rather strict and it takes good men, physically and mental, to pass the test. The day has gone by when the army would accept nearly every man who made application.

Corporal Thompson will return to Duluth on Saturday and after advising with his superior officer and receiving favorable sanction will soon hoist the American flag over the proposed station in Brainerd, remaining several months and probably half a year for this purpose in the city.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley's Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. For sale by all druggists. mwf Conductor Courtesy.

"Conductor," called the woman who sat near the rear door, "let me out at the next corner."
But the conductor forgot.
"Hey!" shouted the woman as the car sped along for two blocks. "Didn't I tell you to let me off at the next corner?"
"Yes'm," answered the polite official, "but this here ain't the next corner. It's this one."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Seven Men and Two Women Arrested on Kidnapping Charge.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Angelo Mareno, kidnapped by "Black Hand" blackmailers last Saturday, was found by the police within a few blocks of his father's home. The boy was taken to the Chicago avenue police station.

Seven men and two women were arrested by order of Inspector Revere an hour after the boy had been found. Inspector Revere declared that he had captured the kidnappers and the persons who acted as go betweens in negotiations with the Mareno family.

THE TALE OF A PIG

Chief Justice Marshall's First Case as a Lawyer.

HE OUTWITTED A DEADBEAT.

When Marshall Sued Old Haskin Smiled, When the Case Was Won and Payment Claimed He Laughed, but When the Climax Came He Wilted.

Chief Justice John Marshall's first case as a lawyer was tried in Fauquier county, Va. It was the suit of Cohn versus Haskin, and the descendants of the great interpreter of the constitution delight to tell of the subtle strategy whereby the budding jurist achieved victory over that case hardened deadbeat of a Haskin person.

This same Haskin, it appears, was a man possessed of property. But he was also possessed of a shrewd knowledge of the law. He kept all he had in his wife's name, excepting what the statute exempted from seizure for debt.

In an evil and absentminded moment Cohn, who ran a general store in Haskin's neighborhood, trusted him for sugar and coffee to the amount of $11. This was years before the eruption of young Marshall into the law, and in the interim Cohn had given the claim for collection to every young lawyer in the county to cut his teeth on. Swiftly following Marshall's unfurling of his shingle to the Fauquier winds came Cohn with his claim. Even the callow attorney recognized it as a veteran among claims. However, having nothing else to while away the time, he took the case, Cohn promising him all he could get out of it, which showed Cohn's valuation of it as an asset.

Young Marshall promptly brought suit, at which Haskin smiled. When judgment was obtained, Marshall rode out in person to Haskin's place and demanded payment, at which Haskin laughed.

And while Haskin chuckled the keen eye of the young lawyer wandered about the farmyard. He saw one plow, which was exempt under the law; also one harrow, also exempt; also a huge levathan of a pig drowsing lazily in a pen—a very Gargantua of a pig.

"That's the only pig I got," volunteered Haskin, reading the lawyer's thought, for Haskin, also law wise, knew that under the statute he was entitled to one pig exempt from seizure for debt.

The future chief justice rode home pondering deeply. Next day he was seen strolling around the outskirts of the town looking into casual pigsties and keeping his thoughts to himself.

One noon shortly after a youth, trudging along the big road in front of Haskin's house, stopped to ask for a bite to eat. Over his shoulder he carried a gunny sack. Haskin handed him out a pone of bread and a chunk of meat and then demanded a quarter for the repast. "I haven't got a quarter," replied the youth; "thought you would give a feller a little snack like that."

"Not much," growled Haskin. "What you got in that bag?" "Nuthin' but a month old pig," answered the youth. "Say, if you gimme a quarter in money I'll give you the pig and we'll call it square."

"I reckon you stole that pig," commented Haskin, "else you wouldn't sell it so cheap. Here's your quarter; gimme the pig."

The youth disappeared with the quarter, and Haskin, with the content of one who has driven a hard bargain, carried the shot over to the barnyard and spilled it into the pen where lay the porcine Gargantua. Coincidentally there rose out of the alder bushes adjacent the forms of young Marshall and another man—the other man was the constable. In his hand he held a writ of execution. He climbed solemnly over into the pigsty and, pointing to the fat porker, said:

"I levy on that pig in the suit of Cohn versus Haskin," and he waved his hand to a man who was waiting with an empty wagon down the road.

"But that pig is exempt," exclaimed the irate Haskin. "The law allows me one pig."

"You've got him there," answered the constable, pointing to the shot as he trussed up the big fellow and called to the man in the wagon to lend a hand. "You can't make your selection for exemption after the levy's made."

"But the fellow that sold me that shot stole him," urged Haskin, growing desperate. "I can't own a stolen pig."

"All right," put in young Marshall, wholly unperturbed. "Mr. Constable, just arrest him for receiving stolen goods."

But Haskin had fled to the safety of his back porch, seeing which the constable, Marshall and the man in the wagon hustled the complaining porker aboard and drove away, leaving the bewildered Haskin to ruminate at leisure over the intricacies of the law which permits a man to keep even his religion in his wife's name, but ravishes away his choicest pig from under his very nose.

And, concluding, the multiple descendants of the great John also delight to tell how that pig sold for $19.85—enough not only to pay the ancient claim, but to satisfy exactly the demands of court and constable for costs, leaving not a penny over for the grief-stricken and wicked Haskin.

To which the reader may add, "And they all lived happily forever after"—except Haskin.—New York Times.

Did you ever hear of a man who had striven all his life faithfully and singly toward an object and in no measure obtained it? If a man constantly aspires, is he not elevated? Did ever a man try heroism, magnanimity, truth, sincerity, and find that there was no advantage in them—that it was a vain endeavor?—H. D. Thoreau.

Talked a Lot.

"I am half of your opinion," answered De Baurru.

Guard the Family Health

Health is often endangered by unsanitary cooking utensils. Physicians have found that cancer is caused by enamel ware chipping off and irritating the stomach.

If you have children or invalids in the family beware of cheap cooking utensils that crack, scale, peel off, tarnish and rust. Disease germs lurk in the worn places and there is further danger of tainting the food. Health is too precious to take risks with it. Be safe. Use

THE TALE OF A PIG

Chief Justice Marshall's First Case as a Lawyer.

HE OUTWITTED A DEADBEAT.

When Marshall Sued Old Haskin Smiled, When the Case Was Won and Payment Claimed He Laughed, but When the Climax Came He Withed.

Chief Justice John Marshall's first case as a lawyer was tried in Fauquier county, Va. It was the suit of Cohn versus Haskin, and the descendants of the great interpreter of the constitution delight to this day to tell of the subtle strategy whereby the budding jurist achieved victory over that case hardened deadbeat of a Haskin person.

This same Haskin, it appears, was a man possessed of property. But he was also possessed of a shrewd knowledge of the law. He kept all he had in his wife's name, excepting what the statute exempted from seizure for debt.

In an evil and absentminded moment Cohn, who ran a general store in Haskin's neighborhood, trusted him for sugar and coffee to the amount of $11. This was years before the eruption of young Marshall into the law, and in the interim Cohn had given the claim for collection to every young lawyer in the county to cut his teeth on. Swiftly following Marshall's unfurling of his shingle to the Fauquier winds came Cohn with his claim. Even the cellow attorney recognized it as a veteran among claims. However, having nothing else to while away the time, he took the case, Cohn promising him all he could get out of it, which showed Cohn's valuation of it as an asset.

Young Marshall promptly brought suit, at which Haskin smiled. When judgment was obtained, Marshall rode out in person to Haskin's place and demanded payment, at which Haskin laughed.

And while Haskin chuckled the keen eye of the young lawyer wandered about the farmyard. He saw one plow, which was exempt under the law; also one harrow, also exempt; also a huge leviathan of a pig drowsing lazily in a pen—a very Gargantua of a pig.

"That's the only pig I got," volunteered Haskin, reading the lawyer's thought, for Haskin, also law wise, knew that under the statute he was entitled to one pig exempt from seizure for debt.

The future chief justice rode home pondering deeply. Next day he was seen strolling around the outskirts of the town looking into casual pigsties and keeping his thoughts to himself.

One noon shortly after a youth, trudging along the big road in front of Haskin's house, stopped to ask for a bite to eat. Over his shoulder he carried a gunny sack. Haskin handed him out a pone of bread and a chunk of meat and then demanded a quarter for the repast. "I haven't got a quarter," replied the youth; "thought you would give a feller a little snack like that."

"Not much," growled Haskin. "What you got in that bag?"

"Nuthin' but a month old pig," answered the youth. "Say, if you gimme a quarter in money I'll give you the pig and we'll call it square."

"I reckon you stole that pig," commented Haskin, "else you wouldn't sell it so cheap. Here's your quarter; gimme the pig."

The youth disappeared with the quarter, and Haskin, with the content of one who has driven a hard bargain, carried the shot over to the barnyard and spilled it into the pen where lay the porcine Gargantua. Coincidentally there rose out of the alder bushes adjacent the forms of young Marshall and another man—the other man was the constable. In his hand he held a writ of execution. He climbed solemnly over into the pigsty and, pointing to the fat porker, said:

"I levy on that pig in the suit of Cohn versus Haskin," and he waved his hand to a man who was waiting with an empty wagon down the road.

"But that pig is exempt," exclaimed the irate Haskin. "The law allows me one pig."

"You've got him there," answered the constable, pointing to the shot as he trussed up the big fellow and called to the man in the wagon to lend a hand. "You can't make your selection for exemption after the levy's made."

"But the fellow that sold me that shot stole him," urged Haskin, growing desperate. "I can't own a stolen pig."

"All right," put in young Marshall, wholly unperturbed. "Mr. Constable, just arrest him for receiving stolen goods."

But Haskin had fled to the safety of his back porch, seeing which the constable, Marshall and the man in the wagon hustled the complaining porker aboard and drove away, leaving the bewildered Haskin to ruminate at leisure over the intricacies of the law which permits a man to keep even his religion in his wife's name, but ravishes away his choicest pig from under his very nose.

And, concluding, the multiple descendants of the great John also delight to tell how that pig sold for $10.85—enough not only to pay the ancient claim, but to satisfy exactly the demands of court and constable for costs, leaving not a penny over for the grief stricken and wicked Haskin.

To which the reader may add, "And they all lived happily forever after"—except Haskin.—New York Times.

STRUGGLE.

Did you ever hear of a man who had striven all his life faithfully and singly toward an object and in no measure obtained it? If a man constantly aspires, is he not elevated? Did ever a man try heroism, magnanimity, truth, sincerity, and find that there was no advantage in them—that it was a vain endeavor?—H. D. Thoreau.

Talked a Lot.
Cardinal Richelieu being ill, M. de Baurtr happened to be in his antechamber simultaneously with a loud mouthed talker, whom he cautioned to keep quiet.

"Why don't you wish me to speak?" queried the other. "True, I talk a good deal, but I talk well."

"I am half of your opinion," answered De Baurtr.

Guard the Family Health

Health is often endangered by unsanitary cooking utensils. Physicians have found that cancer is caused by enamel ware chipping off and irritating the stomach.

If you have children or invalids in the family beware of cheap cooking utensils that crack, scale, peel off, tarnish and rust. Disease germs lurk in the worn places and there is further danger of tainting the food. Health is too precious to take risks with it.

Be safe. Use

which are guaranteed for 15 years constant service and will never spoil food nor endanger health.

This new ware is featherweight, beautiful, easy to clean—does not tarnish nor rust. The slight extra cost is more than made up by long service and absolute safety.
